STANDING OF THE PARTIES AT DISSOLUTION.

Since the last Dominion general elections on December 6th, 1921, there has been remarkably little change in party standings in the House of Commons. When the ballots were counted nearly four years ago, Liberals returned numbered 117, Progressives 64, Conservatives 50, Labor and Independents 4. At the time of dissolution the standing was practically the same. Conservatives have one less, and Progressives three less. In the latter numbers, however, no allowance is made for existing vacancies. There are four in number. Two, one in New Brunswick and the other in Ontario, are seats last represented by Conservatives; one in Quebec, is Liberal, and the fourth in Ontario, is Progressive.

Forty-one by-elections have been held since the general elections of 1921 and in only three has there been a reversal of party fortunes. In two of these, off in New Brunswick and one in Nova Scotia, Conservatives won from Liberals. In one by-election, that of West Hastings, Ontario, Liberals won from Conservatives, leaving a net Conservative gain of one seat. Progressives have had only one seat at stake, that of Moose Jaw, and a Progressive was again returned. Two Progressives, Messrs. Hammel, Muskoka and Brette of Kenora, however, crossed the floor and joined the Liberals.

In the forty-one by-elections there have been twenty-four Liberal acclamations (including those of ministers re-elected on assuming office,) and seventeen contested elections. Liberals have won eleven of the contested elections, Conservatives five and Progressives one.

Variations in party fortunes may be summed up as follows:

	City of Prov. or Territory	Make	Prov. or Territory
Elected in 1921.....	117	Toronto, Ont.	McLaughlin-Buick
Bye-election changes:		77	240
Net loss of one.....	116	Studebaker	25
Two Progressives added.....	118	Hudson	19
Less one vacancy:		Willys-Knight	16
Present standing.....	117	Nash	11
Progressives.....		Chrysler (4's and 6's combined)	27
Elected in 1921.....	64	Essex	36
Less two Progressives joined		Dodge	38
Liberals.....	62		11
Less one vacancy:			59
Present standing.....	61
Conservatives.....
Elected in 1921.....	50
Bye-election changes:
Net gain of one.....	51
Less two vacancies:
Present standing.....	49

The parliament recently dissolved consisted of 235 members, but in the next representation will be increased by 10. Nova Scotia will have two members less; the Prairie provinces will have eleven more; British Columbia will have one more. In the other provinces, as well as in the Yukon, the representation is unchanged in number.

Kenora Labor M. P. P.

To Run as a Liberal

As an evidence of the getting together all over Canada of the low tariff parties—Labor, Progressive and Liberals—to fight the high tariff party, the Conservatives, the acceptance of Peter Heenan, leader of the Labor group in the Ontario legislature, of the Liberal nomination for the federal constituency of Kenora, Ont., is but another striking proof, if further were necessary, that Liberal, Labor and Progressive in many parts of Canada are banding themselves together to defeat the high tariff party, led by Hon. Arthur Meighen.

If We Build in Haste, May Repent at Leisure.

According to estimates submitted at the swimming pool meeting held Tuesday evening, the cost of a pool in the Park site would be $15,120.00. The cost will be no less, possibly more, to have it constructed on the site chosen on the hill. Experience teaches us that estimated costs are usually considerably lower than actual costs. Is it advisable with less than three thousand dollars on hand to rush construction on a position that we feel sure will cost double the amount to complete?

It is always far more difficult to get funds for ventures of this nature after completed than it is before. That other splendid community undertaking, the Coleman Crystal Rink, is a very striking example of this fact.

A good start has been made towards a pool, but financially we are by no means out of the woods. It would be good business not to rush matters. Six months further effort and planning now might save that many years of financial worry to the committee having charge of the pool. Coleman has done without a swimming pool for twenty years, nobody will suffer by waiting six months or even a year longer. Let's get all our facts and dollar, then go ahead.

McLaughlin-Buick Car Sales Exceed Highest Competitors

The reception accorded the better McLaughlin-Buick models by motorists of the City of Toronto, and the entire Province of Ontario, is very impressively shown by the August registration issued by Motor Directories which we have recently received, and are as follows:

Make City of Prov. or Territory

McLaughlin-Buick 77 240

Studebaker 25 84

Hudson 19 69

Willys-Knight 16 29

Nash 11 27

Chrysler (4's and 6's combined) 36 153

Essex 38 139

Dodge 11 59

It will be observed that McLaughlin-Buick leads the field by a tremendous margin, exceeding the combined sales of the four highest competitors. Facts such as this must be convincing to any prospective buyer. The superior qualities of the better McLaughlin-Buick and the exceptional values in every model are telling their own story.

At last, after three months of strife between the miners on strike, a settlement has been made and the men have voted to go back to work. The arrangements made with the men is to all intents and purposes at present an open shop agreement, with the exception of the Gouge group of mines, which will continue working under the United Mine Workers of America contract. Even this tentative settlement causes a feeling of intense relief to all concerned outside of the miners themselves, who are not satisfied with the arrangements made, but who are for the most part desirous of working this winter. The signs have been a long one and bitterly contested. Many of the striking miners got into trouble with the police and are awaiting trial for their impulsive acts. —Drumheller Mail.

The meeting held in the K. of P. hall Tuesday evening, presided over by Mayor Burns, decided to shelve the site chosen by the committee previously appointed to look over available sites. RED ROSE COFFEE

Confidence--A National Keystone

Evidence accumulates of the tremendous impetus which the 1925 crop of Western Canada is giving to business throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, while paving the way for still greater increases and expansion. Almost every day the daily newspapers tell of some new record established. Both the C.P.R. and Canadian National are loading larger numbers of cars daily with grain than ever before in their history, with the result that the stream of wheat pouring into the terminal elevators is surpassing anything hitherto known.

The Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co., the largest initial wheat handling company in the Dominion, if not in the world, recently took in 1,200,000 bushels in one day, where as in no previous year did it quite reach the one million bushel mark.

Another most gratifying feature of this year's crop is that the actual yield per acre is not only coming up to the earlier estimates, but, taken on the whole, those estimates are being exceeded. In the matter of grade, too, the out-turn is highly gratifying, this year's crop grading higher than in any previous year. Not only is a very high percentage of contract grades, but at least half of the contract grades in Saskatchewan is reported as No. 1 or No. 2.

The large increase in wheat production in Canada this year, the satisfactory yield per acre, the high grade, and the substantial price is becoming well known throughout the United States, where the crop this year has fallen away below the average. As a result a movement of United States farmers to Western Canada has already begun.

The 1925 crop has also provided a final and conclusive reason for such an old established confidence as the Hudson's Bay Company to take active steps to carry into effect its pre-war policy of extending operations throughout the West. The H. B. Company, however, commenced building operations on a new $5,000,000 store in Winnipeg, is enlarging its store in Vancouver, has purchased additional property to provide extensions at Calgary, Edmonton and Saskatoon, and has just concluded the purchase of an extensive site for a store in Regina.

These are some of the recent and tangible evidences of the renewed confidence in Western Canada which is felt by everybody. The road to success is not an easy one, the most valuable asset of all. It means more to our people add to this country and its future than all the millions of dollars of new wealth which the crop itself represents.

While the West was passing through the past few trying and difficult years, there was an all too general tendency towards pessimism and in the direction of decrying the country itself. When others are rather hard, and people are looking at the blue side of things, they are apt to forget that all countries have periods of depression, and that every year cannot be a "good" year. This year's crop, however, has demonstrated that Western Canada, as a country, is all right, and that the people are taking heart. There will be no boom, but there will unquestionably be a newer and firmer confidence.

A confidence like it will be repeated, a real and vital impetus to the growth and development of the people and the lands individually as well as in the best and outstanding national weakness. In the planning and execution of such national undertakings Canadians have displayed confidence, but all too frequently in their individual capacity and enterprises they have been timid and fearful to venture. Such lack of confidence has been more in evidence in the East than in the West, although this section of the Dominion has not lacked croakers and prophets of blue ruin.

This year the West is not only proving to its own people what it can do, but it is demonstrating to all the Canada and the world at large that under normal conditions it can provide the means to keep all the wheels of industry turning.

Supremacy of the Air

New British Seaplane is Capable of Great Speed

The Napier S-4 which is the secret seaplane built at Southampton for the British entry in the Schneider air cup race at Baltimore, is now ready for shipment to the United States. The utmost "secrecy" is still preserved, but it is capable of speed of considerably more than four miles a minute. The machine has monoplane wings built in the form of a fighter plane, the only materials being metal and wood. The propellers are metal and the design throughout is entirely novel. The British hope not only to win the cup, but to gain definite air superiority.

A Tale of Shipwreck

Bottle Message of Tragic Import is Found After Many Months

On a little island far to the centre of the Indian Ocean, far from the steamship lanes, may lie the bones of five seamen, saved from drowning when the "Mary A. Boller," of Philadelphia, was wrecked in a storm on March 18, 1921, according to a dispatch from Brussels.

A man, a seafarer at Bremerhaven, Germany, found in the sand a bottle containing the following message: "Salting ship Mary A. Boller, from Philadelphia, wrecked in storm March 18, known latitude 32° east, longitude 10° south. Five were saved but will starve unless somebody comes soon. Please notify grandfather, P. S. Woods, 4103 Walnut Street, Philadelphia. For God's sake hurry."

The bottle, with its message of hope, travelled many thousands of miles before it was picked up in Belgium.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 4

PAUL IN ATHENS

Golden Text: In him we live, and move, and have our being. Acts 17:28.
Lesson: Acts 17:16-34.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 139:7-12.

The Text Explained and Illumined

Paul's Occupation At Athens, verses 16, 17—While Paul awaited the coming of Silas and Timothy (see The Historical Background), his spiritual mission within him led him to fill the city full of idols. To the cultured Athenians these idols were only objects of gods, but to the ignorant they were gods.

A good criterion of a man's character may be gained from the knowledge of the things which stir his heart.

Paul preached in the synagogue to the Jews and proselytes, and also in the market place every day that he was like Socrates, who was wont to stop his compatriots, and by cross-examination arrive in them a desire for better things.

Paul may have been more successful in his work with individuals than with the masses. Preaching work often wins where preaching fails. This is a ministry which all can exercise.

Heel Holds Powder

A hollow heel that serves as a powder box has been invented in England. In appearance the heel looks like the ordinary high heel of a woman's shoe, but whenever the wearer wishes to powder her nose she simply releases a catch at the back of her shoe and the powder box heel swings down on a hinge, releasing a powder puff.

NATURE'S WARNINGS

Danger Signals That Everyone Should Take Seriously

Paul is one of Nature's warnings that something is wrong with the body. Indigestion, for instance, is characterized by pain in the stomach, and often about the heart; rheumatism, by pain in the joints and limbs; constipation, a sign that the nerves or stomach are out of order. In some ailments, such as asthma, pain is the signal that something is wrong with the lungs. These warnings take the form of pallor, breathlessness after slight exertion, pain in the heart, and pains or cramps in the abdomen. In these warnings take, wise people will ignore the fact that many diseases have their origin in poor blood circulation, and that the blood is carried the farther disappears.

Dr. William Pink Pills are most helpful in such cases because they purify and build up the system. In this way it tones up the nerves, restores the appetite and gives perfect health. Hazel Bane, of Alberta, has written the great value of this medicine and says: "I am a young girl and have been working in a factory for the last four years. I have had bad health and poor health that at times I could not work. I was thin and pale, and troubled with headaches and pains in my head, and nearly all the time, but it did not help me." My mother advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and she said to me, "Take them and notice an improvement in my condition. I used nine boxes and can truthfully say that my health is restored." When I began taking the pills I weighed 97 pounds and now weigh 114.

I feel that I owe my good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and hope other ailing people will give them a fair trial.

You can get these pills through any medical man or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Box, Brackley, Ont.

MOSUL QUESTION IS CAUSE OF GRAVE CONCERN

Geneva.—The Mosul muddle thickened during a dramatic session of the council of the league, which M. Loubet, a Frenchman, hastily adjourned after an outbreak of temper from those present against the attitude of Kubbidi Bey, head of the Turkish delegation, on the question of the deportation of Christians.

The committee of the council had introduced a resolution, which substantially was unanimously approved, authorizing the dispatch of a special league commissioner to the Mosul area to examine the British charges that the Christian Chaldeans were being ill-treated and exiled by the Turks. The Turkish delegation argued that the British had occupied Mosul by Turkey, and, in a general way, to keep the council informed of any incident liable to endanger peace.

Colonel Sir Edward, British secretary for the dominions, insisted that the commissioners should not only have the right to pursue his investigation south of the Brussels line, which is occupied by the British, but also in the narrow Mosul strip north of that occupied by the Turks.

Strike Trouble Looms

British Prime Minister Takes Sides With Mine Owners

London.—The British prime minister, Stanley Baldwin, has taken sides with the mine owners and against the Miners' Federation in the dispute between the miners and operators over the wage question. A two days' conference between the prime minister and the chief executive at Downing Street failed to bring about a settlement.

After the conference, A. J. Cook, secretary of the Miners' Federation, announced the deadlock, declared that his colleagues would take no part in the royal commission inquiry into the mining situation, pending the decision of a delegate conference, which should meet October 9. The miners, he added, would again appeal to the whole labor movement to stand by them, as they did in July, so that the miners' demands were not reduced.

The details of the dispute between the parties are somewhat complicated, but Premier Baldwin's attitude will enable the mine owners to reduce wages in certain districts in a manner the miners contend is a violation of the agreement upon which the governmental subsidy was granted.

This subsidy took the form of a "subvention" to the mines nearly two months ago, which would enable the owners to continue their existing wage agreements for another nine months. The miners' leaders declare there is danger that the mine workers will be ousted.

Concave On Disarmament

League of Nations Is Making Preparation For Conference

Geneva.—Confirming the plans of the leaders, the League of Nations Assembly, in plenary sessions on the commission, laid the foundations of future international disarmament and economic conferences.

The disarmament commission adopted a resolution whereby the league council will make a preparatory study for a conference for reduction and limitation of armaments, so that as soon as general security has been achieved a conference will be convened in order that "a general reduction and limitation of armaments may be realized."

Various topics of the situations related to different kinds of operations will come up, and before the conference closed a resolution was passed requesting that at the earliest possible date, members of the executive of the imperial economic committee should be invited to Canada to consult with representatives, both provincial and co-operative, of the agricultural interests, and that the arrangements necessary for the meeting of the planning committee will be apportioned.

At 8:30 p.m. the editors will be guests of The Leader Publishing Company at dinner and at 8:30 p.m. the members of agriculture, welcomed the representatives, expressing at the same time the opinion that Canada was not keeping pace with other countries in capturing British trade.

Bidding For British Trade

Empire Committee Will Be Invited To Visit Canada

Toronto.—The problems that await solution in placing on the markets of Great Britain, Canadian produce on a scale far greater than has heretofore been attempted were discussed at length at the Ontario Parliament Buildings, when representatives from other provinces conferred with the imperial inquiry committee of the Ontario Legislature.

Various topics of the situations related to different kinds of operations will come up, and before the conference closed a resolution was passed requesting that at the earliest possible date, members of the executive of the imperial economic committee should be invited to Canada to consult with representatives, both provincial and co-operative, of the agricultural interests, and that the arrangements necessary for the meeting of the planning committee will be apportioned.

Hon. Dr. Jamison, chairman of the agricultural committee, occupied the chair, and Hon. John S. Martin, minister of agriculture, welcomed the representatives, expressing at the same time the opinion that Canada was not keeping pace with other countries in capturing British trade.

DELEGATES FROM MANY LANDS TO MEET AT OTTAWA

Ottawa.—The meeting here on October 13 of the inter-parliamentary union will bring to Canada a most distinguished body. There will be coming here from Europe and Asia four hundred delegates, representing thirty-nine nations.

There are many of the most prominent leaders of Europe. The Union is to meet for two or six days in Washington and conclude with a plenary meeting of one day in Ottawa. Two objects which have been reserved for discussion here are the rights of minorities and the suppression of narcotic drugs.

The inter-parliamentary union was founded twenty-three years ago, for the purpose of promoting world peace and closer international relations. Since the formation of the League of Nations it has been a close cooperation with this body. Its membership is composed entirely of parliamentary representatives, and is divided into national groups forming the general body of the union.

Says Cassiar Field Is Second Klondyke

Editor of Alaska Weekly Predicts Early Developments

Seattle.—The Cassiar mining district in British Columbia, lying just across the Canadian border from Alaska, is due to take the place of the Klondyke in the course of the next few years, in the opinion of Frank J. Cotter, editor of the Alaska Weekly, who has just returned here after a four month trip into that district.

"I make this statement after a four month's tour of the entire district," he said, "which is unquestionably the most wonderful country to be found to the north of Seattle."

"The district is such that the country is able to make with the modern limited equipment now available, a surprising. And it will be even more surprising within the next two years because in that time the mining camps all will be equipped with the most modern machinery."

"A couple weeks ago, just before coming out, I was on Discovery Gold Creek and saw the last clean-up made in gold. It was all yellow, nuggety gold, and enough to make a full pack for a strong man."

Many Canadians Return

Thousands Are Now Flocking Back to Canada From U.S.

Ottawa.—Immigration to Canada for the first four months of the fiscal year ended July 31 amounted to a total of 40,808, of which 12,217 were British, 6,874 from the United States, and 14,517 from other countries. In the same period, 12,170 Canadians who had been absent in the United States six months and over, returned to Canada with the intention of making their permanent home in this country.

The total number of Canadians who have returned from the United States since April 1, 1924, after settling in that country six months and longer, and now with the intention of remaining permanently in Canada, is 55,345.

Tourist Traffic Still Heavy

Regina.—G. D. Brophy, district passenger agent of the C.P.R., who has returned to the city, from a holiday trip in the Rocky Mountains, reports that the tourist traffic is still very heavy throughout the prairies and in the mountains, and that it has been greater this year than ever before. The latter half of the year the hotels at Banff and Lake Louise are usually nearly deserted, but this year both have a daily average of between 150 and 175 guests.

Regina.—All the livestock on the farm of Mr. McLean, six miles east of here, were saved by ladies who were alone on the farm when the barn caught fire at 4:30 Monday afternoon. Food and implements, as well as the barn itself were destroyed. The loss is covered by insurance.

Orient Prefers Canadian Wheat

Japan Has Purchased 150,000 Tons of Canadian Wheat

The Vega Crop

Vancouver.—Considering the seriousness of the financial situation in Japan, Canada's trade prospects in that country are excellent, according to A. E. Bryan, newly appointed inspector of foreign trade for Canada, who for many years has been trade commissioner for the Dominion in Japan. Mr. Bryan arrived from the Orient on his way to Ottawa.

"Japan has purchased 150,000 tons of Canadian wheat from the present crop," said Mr. Bryan. "This is about three times the tonnage purchased last year and will keep the Japanese flour mills operating until December when the Australian grain is on the market." Whether or not the Australian wheat will, because of its cheaper price, shut out further buying, is unknown, but Canadian wheat is gaining a marked preference because of its superior quality.

"The syndicate seeks the following from the government:

(1) Water power rights on the Nelson River to develop electric power to operate traps.

(2) A four-year agreement for running rights over the Canadian National Railway track from Winnipeg, Parry Sound or Brandon to Hudson Bay Junction.

(3) The right to change the terminals to Fort Churchill, if thought advisable.

"The syndicate offers to provide a railway pier at the terminus at which vessels drawing 35 feet of water would be able to load safely or discharge cargo."

"Winnipeg grain interests are said to have decided to Fort Churchill, which has had a man at Ottawa during the last week to press the application.

BRITAIN TAKES STEPS TO CURB RED CAMPAIGN

London.—The persistent outcry of a section of the press and the public against names of various communists and other "Red" propagandists and agitators, who allegedly led men to stirring up unrest among the British workers and navy, seems to have borne fruit and induced the government to take steps in the direction demanded.

The offenders have been numerous, and it is reported that a general round up of them will take place in a few days. It is said the government already decided to deport about fifty foreign Reds allegedly involved in subversive propaganda.

The outgrowth of several conferences between the home office officials and the chief Scotland Yard, order have been given for an energetic campaign to remove the offenders, many of whom are foreigners. THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1925

High Protection & Failure in 1896,
Can it be Beneficial in 1925?

Those who are advocating a high protective tariff for Canada, are either extremely youthful or else have very poor memories. Anyone who can remember the election of 1896,—and the writer remembers it very well,—will recall that the Conservatives were in power in the Dominion, and the National Policy of Sir John A. MacDonald—high protection—was their platform. Canada had been going down hill for many years, factories were working part time or closed, wages were low, immigration was at a low ebb, and business in general was stagnant.

The Liberal party under Laurier fought that election and triumphed on a platform of lower protection. Their battle cry in Ontario was: "Keep The Tall Chimneys Smoking," and "A Full Dinner Pail." What was the result? From 1897 to 1911 Canada experienced the greatest growth in her history. Factories by the hundreds were established, and those already in operation grew and prospered. Immigration ran into the millions. Wages increased, agriculture flourished and all parts of Canada were uniformly prosperous.

Just how the resurrection of Sir John A. MacDonald's National Policy of high protection in 1925 can work the wonders it failed to do in the years previous to 1896 is difficult to understand.

Shirt Sleeve Patriotism.

From childhood we have been taught to respect the flag, to love our country and defend it; to obey laws and be honest in our every-day transactions of life. We have had instilled into our lives the need for dependence upon the great institutional triangle of existence—the home, the school, and the church. Fraternalism is so imbedded in our natures that we naturally seek the hand of fellowship in lodge club and social circle. All the splendid virtues and heroic deeds in the lives of the men and women who have made history have been paraded before us until the desire to emulate their examples exists within us and becomes a part of the lives of the more ambitious among us.

From these things the patriotic impulse springs. No flag waving or rumble of drums is entirely necessary to arouse the latent spirit in the breast of man to carry forward the banner of free government, public education, respect for law, and safety for the whole-some institutions of society. Clearly, we do not lack for high-minded examples of patriotism. What troubles the average man or woman is how to make both ends meet in the business world and in the gentle art of providing the daily bread. Pulling against this great impulse of patriotism, that is born in us and half acquired through life, is the almost constant annoyance of the smooth-tongued politician, the no-tongued deadbeat and a lot of inequalities in business and commerce that render the next meal a precarious question.

A government that looks after the needs of the common man as against 'big business' will not lack for patriots. Contentment among people, both nationally and locally, is one of the greatest boons any nation can possess.

The old Conservative argument that we must protect our Canadian "infant" industries by a high tariff has long since become threadbare, although R. B. Bennett and some others still use it. Many of these so-called infants are hoary with age and have for several generations been taking advantage of the protection afforded them by adding the amount of the tariff to their manufactured articles, thus increasing the cost to the consumer. Their latest proposal that the high protective tariff can be cancelled when any industry takes undue advantage of that protection, is rather novel. It is so novel that one wonders why it was not put into effect by the Conservatives a generation or two ago.

Both the woolen and cotton manufacturers of New England are favored by the highest tariff schedule of protective duties ever enacted. They should according to the Conservatives, be now enjoying a full measure of prosperity. As a matter of fact, many of them are running half time and some of them are not running at all. Contrast this state of affairs with the increased business the implement manufacturers in Canada have enjoyed since the tariff was reduced on agricultural implements.

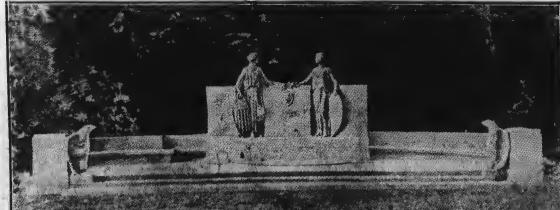

Conservative campaign literature and speeches indicate that Mr. Meighen is pledged, if returned to power, to bring back to the land of their birth Canadians now domiciled in the United States. That would be a commendable undertaking. He might commence by bringing back the 757,672 Canadians who crossed the international boundary line while he was a member of the government. How many did he bring back during his premiership?

The cotton industry in the United States has at present the highest protective tariff in its history, yet nearly half of the spindles in the New England states are idle. The employees of these factories are possibly the poorest paid of any manufacturing industry. Does that prove high protection is a good thing for industry and the worker?

If you are still skeptical about evolution take a look at the 1926 flivvers.

What this country needs is an increased tax on knockers, not on manufactured goods.

Unveiling The "Altar of Peace" at Vancouver

The President Harding International Good Will Memorial located in Stanley Park, Vancouver and erected by Kiwanis International through the voluntary subscriptions of its 65,000 members in the United States and Canada, was unveiled by John H. Moore, president of the Kiwanis Club of Vancouver, on October 14th in the presence of a large gathering of both United States and Canadian government officials and members of Kiwanis.

The memorial was designed by Vittorio Merga, a well known Italian sculptor of Vancouver. When the scheme was first decided upon, it was the intention of the American Kiwanis Club to raise the funds on their side and the Canadian Kiwanis Club to raise the money. The Canadian Kiwanis, however, insisted upon contributing towards the fund and the memorial was thus erected by the joint efforts of the United States and Canadian Kiwanis.

At the unveiling ceremony, the Dominion Government was represented by Hon. Dr. J. H. King and Dr. G. H. Hardinge, both of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The United States Kiwanis was represented by International President John H. Moore, and International Past Presidents Victor S. Bowes and Edmund F. Peters. The Canadian Past President was represented by Frank Peters, General Superintendent in Vancouver. Several of the United States delegates stayed over at Banff and Jasper and visited the Rockies before proceeding to Vancouver. The memorial itself is throughout a made-in-Canada product, being designed by Canadians and made of Canadian materials and by Canadian labor.

The site of the memorial is the spot where the late

President Harding made his last public speech, when just before he died in 1923 he visited Canada. Warren G. Harding, late president of the U.S.A., was a charter member of the Kiwanis Club at Marion, Ohio, his home town.

An extract from the speech made by the Chief Executive of the United States on that occasion, written in bronze for the memorial, and the possible text of many a numerous prayer of hope of the cosmopolitan townies who resided in Vancouver, is as follows:

"What an object lesson of peace is shown today by our two countries to all the world. No grim-faced fortifications mark our frontiers, no huge battleship patrol the ocean, no ironclad wall of steel runs along the border hamlets. Only a scrap of paper, recording hardly more than a simple understanding, safeguards lives and properties on the Great Plains, and only humble miles through farm and forest."

"Our protection is in our fraternity, our safety is our faith, and the ties that bind, more firmly each year, will bind us together in mutual trust and understanding through interchange of citizens; and the compact is not perishable parchment, but of fair and honorable dealing, which, God grant, will continue."

THE CANADIAN AND AMERICAN TARIFFS
(BY R. J. DEACHMAN)

Which country has the higher tariff, Canada or the United States? In 1923 the United States imported goods to the value of $3,731,769,516—of $56,621,459 of this was dutiable—$2,165,148,817, or very close to 58 per cent, was duty free.

Canada in 1923 imported goods to the value of $802,579,244—$57,268,782 was dutiable—$265,320,462, or 33 per cent, was duty free.

Let us put it this way. When an American imports goods to the value of $1,000—$580 worth of that at $1,000 enters without payment of duty. The Canadian gets $350 duty free out of every $1,000. That is a marked and material difference.

On the goods which are dutiable the American, however, pays a higher rate. The average rate in 1923 was 38.14 per cent. The Canadian in the same year paid 24.9 per cent.

Return now to our supposed case of the Canadian and American each importing $1,000 worth of goods. The American has $580 free. He pays 38.14 per cent on the balance of $420—a total duty of $151.78, or an average duty, if we include dutiable and free, of 15.17 per cent, which was the average ad valorem (on value) rate in the United States in 1923.

Turn to the Canadian importation of $1,000 worth of goods. The Canadian has $350 exempt from duty. He pays 24.9 per cent on the remaining $670—a total duty or a total of $166.83, or $16.08 more on each $1,000 worth of imports than the American would pay.

We imported in 1923 goods to the value of $802,679,244. We paid total duties of $183,908,870. If the American tariff had been applied to Canada and if our demand for goods had been the same as theirs, we would have paid $121,564,170, or approximately $12,000,000 less than we paid in that year. Without a question of a doubt, the American tariff is lower than the Canadian tariff.

But the American tariff is much higher now than it has been. Let us take the average duty on all goods and the comparisons side by side over a period of years. Here they are:

Canadian	American
1918—12.1	1918—5.09
1919—12.3	1919—6.20
1920—14.7	1920—6.88
1921—14.1	1921—11.44
1922—16.2	1922—14.67
1923—16.7	1923—15.17

Is this method of comparison fair? It is the only method of comparison which presents any aspect of fairness. The figures I have used in this comparison are taken from the Canada Year Book, the U.S. Statistical Abstract (both government publications) and the World Almanac, a statistical publication of the New York World. They are reliable and they are fair. Let us examine the method by which the protectionists try to prove the opposite.

1.—Protectionist Comparisons

The Calgary Herald, copying the style of the Prosperity League of Canada, a purely protectionist propaganda organization, quotes the duty on 18 selected articles and says: "There you are—we told you so." This same Prosperity League in a pamphlet entitled "If Canada Would Prosper," gives the Canadian tariff at 20 per cent, evidently calculated on the basis of dutiable imports, but deducting 10 per cent in order to make it appear low. It gives the American tariff as 60 per cent. This is a falsehood—either ignorant or malicious. By no calculation in which common honesty is an ingredient can such a computation be made. What do you think of such a method of calculation?

Even worse was the action of the Financial Post of Toronto at the last Dominion election. Two tables showing average tariffs of both countries, just as we have given above, were printed in its columns, but the captions on both were transposed, and thus the Canadian tariff was made to appear the lower of the two. I mention this because it may appear again and it is necessary to be on guard.

Strange Methods

Another method of comparison has been adopted by J. J. Gibbons, who is running a series of advertisements in favor of high tariffs in eastern Canada. He cites the duty on snuff as 198 per cent, alcohol 118 per cent, ginger root 59 per cent, and peony bulbs 81 per cent, and from these and a number of other articles concludes that we are headed for oblivion unless we do likewise. Of the low general average of the American tariff he says not a word.

The fact stands. The American tariff is lower on the whole than the Canadian tariff. What then becomes of Arthur Meighen's speeches and the whole protectionist campaign predicated on the idea that American prosperity is due to protection? Gone glimmering to the four winds of heaven. Will he stretch his imagination and still believe in spite of the figures. The difference between the average tariffs of the two countries in 1918 was over 7%. Applied to the Canadian importation it would have reduced our levies by nearly 70 millions of dollars. For every dollar of the tariff which goes into the revenue under our tariff system at least four find a resting place in the pockets of a protected manufacturer. Is our present financial position due to low tariffs or to a high tariff (higher than the American) over the last decade? What says Arthur Meighen? An answer is in order.

What becomes of the great speeches of Mr. Bennett? Those Billy Sunday perverted outburst? They were never of very vital moment save as opportunity for passing amusement, but what is his answer to the fact that for long years he has agitated the ambient atmosphere by the discussion of a fairy myth.

Then there is the Prosperity League of Toronto. Its pamphlets have been broadcasted all over Canada. On the front page of these leaflets are the names of such well known Canadians as Geo. A. Dobbie, W. K. George, Sir James Woods, John Northway, Geo. H. Gooderham. Inside of one is the statement that the American tariff is three times as high as the Canadian. I have given you the facts. Have these men no moral responsibility? Are they willing to permit the circulation under their names of any statement whatever, no matter how contrary to the facts? Has Canada come to this? These men in their advertising would scrupulously regard the truth. Is politics outside the code of honor?

Finally, in any tariff controversy, remember that a self-contained country like the United States can stand a much higher tariff than a country like Canada. The per capita importation is much less. The U.S. can produce a great deal of its own sugar—all its cotton, nearly all its coal and iron and tropical fruit. If you lived in Greenland and produced only furs you might be wealthy—you might be able to ship enough furs to give you all the comforts and luxuries of life. But if you imposed a tariff it would injure you more than it would if your industry and production were diversified. Even so with the United States. American industry and production covers a wide range. There is not the same necessity for exchange. Therefore they are more indifferent to tariffs, high or low, than we are. Nevertheless this constitutes no reason for perverseness of fact. In their wisdom they have adopted a tariff which looked at from every angle is lower than ours. If they had chosen a higher tariff that would not have constituted a reason why we should raise ours. But common honesty, if nothing else, should close the mouths of those who for years have argued that the American tariff is higher than the Canadian.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

The United States had a fire loss in 1924 of $550,000,000. It was reported to the Fire Marshal's Association at San Antonio, Tex.

The entire contents of the residence of the late Viscount Leverhulme at Hampstead, England, have been sold to the Anderson Gallery of New York City, for disposal there early in 1926.

More than one million of New York's juvenile population answered the call of the school bell for the fall term. They are accommodated in 700 buildings with 20,000 teachers.

Furs valued at $150,000, part of a $200,000 haul made by robbers July 13, from a fur warehouse in New York, were found by the police in a vacant room on Long Island.

Three workmen have been held for trial in connection with the destruction of the Diet Building at Tokio on September 8. It may develop that the fire was of incendiary origin.

The Delaware River Bridge, under construction at Camden, N.J., has collapsed. The death of a laborer by a fall from the structure recently brought the list of fatalities on the bridge to 12 since May of this year.

Bakers in confectionery at Buffalo, N.Y., were told that 1857 cakes in the United States, with $47,700,000 invested and employing 127,485 persons, will supply bread for sixty per cent of the nation's homes.

A London dispatch says that arrangements for re-introducing penny postage into South Africa on January 1 are proceeding satisfactorily, and the concession will come into force on that date.

Just as the rope was being adjusted about the neck of a communist conspirator at Sofia, Bulgaria, a reprieve from King Boris arrived. The King is known for his antipathy toward capital punishment.

A typewriter described by officers abroad in United States destroyers and British destroyers as the world in their experience, swept the sailors overboard of Tsingtao, China. Two were drowned.

The oldest inhabitant of Bristol, England, Mrs. Mary Jarrett, died last week at her 105th birth. She outlived all her children, and her descendants number over 100. When the King and Queen visited Bristol in June they congratulated the old lady, on her age.

Parcel post to the Yukon will be suspended during the close of navigation on the Yukon River, which extends from approximately October 1 to May 1st, according to a bulletin issued by the post office department at Ottawa.

Two large suspension bridges are to be erected across the Fraser River Canyon near Spuzzum, B.C. They are links in the inter-prvincial highway and are on the old Cariboo Trail. Tenders are to be called shortly for construction of bridge towers and piers.

Heavy Cost Of Elections

General Elections to Cost Country

$2,000,000

The Dominion general election which is in progress now will cost the country two million dollars. Appropriation of the necessary outlay is a statutory provision of the Dominion Election Act.

The carrying out of the act is under the direction of the chief electoral officer while the executive administration of the financial outlay is under the auditor-general. There are about 242 returning officers. Their pay is dependent upon the extent of the constituency, the number of polls, etc. Other large items of cost are printing, stationery and expenses connected with the registration of voters.

Government Buildings Burned

Several Injured in Million Dollar Fire

At Tokio

Fire has destroyed the Diet Building, two storey wooden structures, which housed the legislative branches of the Japanese Government.

Several persons were injured. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000. Many valuable documents were lost when a government library in one building was burned. A big modern building is under construction to replace the building that burned, but as it will not be ready for several years, it will be understood a temporary structure will replace the ones destroyed.

The Diet was destroyed once before by fire. It was rebuilt 34 years ago.

Big Exhibition Helps Trade

Canadian Companies Receive Large Orders Through Publicity At Wembley

The second year of the British Empire Exhibition has proven of greater benefit to Canadian trade than 1924. The Canadian government, for instance, for the disposal of 100 cases of the 1925 pack of salmon and mackerel, helping in disposing the 1924 and 1925 pack; large orders were placed for Canadian furniture; one Canadian rubber company has opened a branch in London and another reports an order of $5,000 pairs of rubber boots; one Canadian firm sold $100,000 worth of made-up fur. One of the governments represented at Wembley has negotiated for the purchase of 75,000 Canadian pianos. The most significant feature of the exhibition appears to be that 120 Canadian firms not previously represented in London have appointed permanent representatives and are prepared to do export business.

Surgeon Performs Delicate Operation

Stitches In Heart Saves Life Of Little Boy

Two stitches in his heart which had been punctured by a pair of scissors in a fall, saved the life of Melvin Jones, five-year-old boy.

Dr. Herbert H. Schoefield, of the Children's Hospital at Washington, D.C., performed a delicate operation, pulling back the ribs to make an opening and lifting the heart up with forceps. A gash a quarter of an inch long was disclosed. Two stitches were taken and the heart placed back in position.

The boy was playing with his brother and sister and started upstairs to cut paper dolls with a pair of scissors in his hand. Tripping, the scissors pierced his side.

Blood was taken from the arm of his father and transfused into the boy's body.

The Wheat Pool

Anything That Benefits the Farmer Helps the Country at Large

Unthinking people might believe that the belief that the mass marketing of the grain crop is redundant of the combine idea. It is far from that. Farm business has hitherto had too much of the hit-and-miss complexion. Every farmer seemed to be running his own show in a rather unscientific manner.

The result was that Britain still has a small designations the bales with the short sleeves, with material of a lighter tone used for trimming.

Later two little girls from a neighboring orphanage, of which Miss Jellicoe is a generous benefactor, brought her flowers, and with them Miss Jellicoe discussed her own birth with great zest.

American Farmers Purchase Land

Acquire Thirty-three Farms and Will Move to Saskatchewan

They hope to move their families to Canada this fall or early next spring.

The prospective Canadian settlers expressed themselves as highly satisfied with conditions generally in the west, and predict an influx as a result of their favorable observations.

An All-Metal Seaplane

A new seaplane unusual design has been built at Glasgow for the air race. It is the first all-metal aircraft, even to the floats, so that it is able to ride out quite rough seas without any fear of damage. It has been given the official designation of Invincibility, and is intended for carrying out long distance reconnaissances flights for the fleet.

BAEDE, SON OF KAZAN

James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.
"BAEDE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitrigraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Nepesse, the Indian princess, trying to lure the dog, Baebe, from under the boulder where he sought to hide, was caught by the moving stone and screamed in terror. Her father, Baebe, a French Indian trapper, rescued her. Before that Nepesse had gone close enough to Baebe to strike him, and he found the war of his life. But Baebe, though Baebe was still young and untamed, and again he fled, for the sight of human beings was still strange to him.

CHAPTER X.

Just as in the life of every man there is one big, controlling influence, either for good or bad, so in the life of Baebe the beaver-pond was largely an arbiter of destiny. Where he might have been a trapper he covered it, and what might have happened to him, are matters of conjecture. But it held him. It began to take the place of the old whitetail, and in the beavers themselves he found a companionship which made up, in a way, for his loss of the protection and friendship of Kazan and Gray Wolf.

During this fortnight that followed Beaver-tooth's exploit on the dam Baebe ate his meals a mile up the creek, where there were plenty of "fishwives." But he was a good boy. No Indian would find him there, and a large part of his day. His sleep at the end of the dam, or on top of it on particularly clear nights, and the beavers accepted him as a permanent guest. They worked in his presence as it did not exist.

One afternoon, when the toboggan was particularly wet and slippery from recent use, Baebe went up the beaver-path to the top of the bank, and began investigating. Nowhere had he found the beaver-smo so strong as on the slide. He began sniffing and cautiously went too far. An instant his feet shot out from under him, and he was down, with only his shooting iron the toboggan. For the second time in his life he found himself struggling under water, and within a minute or two later he drags himself up through the soil mud to the furrow feeling of the shore, but had at last of beaver play.

It may be that Umlek saw him. It may be that very soon the story of his adventure was known by all the inhabitants of Beaver town. For when Baebe came upon Umlek eating his supper of bear-hair, he was surprised and horrified to find Umlek, and for the first time they smelted noses. At least Baebe sniffl'd audibly, and pocky little Umlek snak'ed a rolled-up Sphynx. That was the final sealing of their friendliness on Baebe's part.

CHAPTER XI.

While the lonely Nepeesse was slumbering over her thrilling experience under the rock—while Pierrot still offered grateful thanks to the prayers for her deliverance, Baebe was in his den, and more, for he had left the beaver-pond—Bush McTaggart was perfecting a little scheme of his own up at Post Lac Bahn, about forty miles north and west. McTaggart had been factor at Lac Dahn for seven years. In the Company's book down in Winnipeg he was counted a remarkably successful man. The expense of his post was born, the average, and his semi-annual report of four years rancked among the first. After his name, kept-on file in the main office, was one notation which said: "Gets more out of a dollar than any other man north of Kazan's Lake."

"After all, was not his power sufficient?"

The last I know why this was so, he called it "Nepesse's curse." The curse was so bad that he was afraid to stay alone at any time. I had a girl working for me before I was able to do anything again. I named her Lydia E. Pimkinham's Vegetable Compound."

Received Much Benefit by Taking Lydia E. Pimkinham's Vegetable Compound.

Chatham, Ontario.—"I started to get weak after my second child was born, and kept getting worse until I could not do my own housework. I was so bad with the rheumatism that I was afraid to stay alone at any time. I had a girl working for me before I was able to do anything again. I named her Lydia E. Pimkinham's Vegetable Compound and took four bottles of it. I gave birth to a son on the 14th day of September, 1922. I am still doing my own work now. I am washing. Of course, I don't wash as well as I did before, but I don't get my rest as the baby is here. But when I get my rest I feel fine. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and feel much better now than I did until cured. My nerves are a lot better since taking it. I can stay alone now or night, and am not the least frightened. You can write to the Vegetable Compound and I will answer letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."

Tells Why He Can Now Eat Hearty

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so well that I could not help trying them and I never regretted it. I wrote to Mr. Frank J. Trumbull of Jersey City, N. J., whose letter goes on to say, 'I had heard of Carter's Little Liver Pills for many years but never knew that they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach, until I read about another man in the same position as myself and the good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas attacks, so that I could eat without giving billions and billions and they improved my appetite fully 100%.' You will be reassured that from now on I will take Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can afford them."

—the black cross—was put after his name. That was his power—a law of the Factors that had come down through the centuries. It was a tree trunk, and when he had cut it down he thought him Marie, the siren, dark-skinned Cree girl, who hated him—and in spite of her hatred, "kept house for him." That was the polite way of explaining her presence if explanations were ever necessary.

Pierrot looked again at the notes he had made on the sheet of paper. Pierrot's trapping country, his own property according to the company's records, was a valuable island. During the last seven years he had received an average of a thousand and dollars a year for traps, for McTaggart had been unable to cheat McTaggart quite as completely as he had cheated the Indians. A thousand dollars a year! Pierrot would think twice before he gave that up. McTaggart chuckled as he crumpled the paper in his hand and prepared to put out the light. The "Sphynx" was a shaggy beast, a reddish fox-like animal with the skin that was in his blood. It was an unpleasing face—iron, merciless, filled with the look that gave him his name of Napo Wotkow. His eyes gleamed, and he drew a quick breath as he put out the light.

Siamese Drawing Color Line

King Has Advised Subjects Against Inter-Marriage With Europeans

The King of Siam, according to Bangkok advises, is drawing the color line in his relations of his subjects. He wrote in a letter to Siamese students in England:

"Do not marry Europeans at any cost. We know of numerous cases where our countrymen have taken white women as their wives, but we have never heard of any mixed marriages with happy results. Do not scorn your countrymen and recall that neither the Siamese nor the English respect a person married outside their own race."

NO BETTER MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

This was just six weeks ago that Pierrot had brought home to Nepeesse on her visit to Lac Dahn since McTaggart had been factored there. Pierrot had been there three weeks before that. Pierrot had brought home to Nepeesse on her visit to Lac Dahn since McTaggart had been factored there. Since then he had been able to think of nothing but her. Twice in that six weeks he had gone down to Pierrot's cabin. Tomorrow he was going again. Marie, the siren Cree girl over in the cabin, had been forgotten—just as a dozen others before Marie had slipped out of his memory. It was Nepeesse now. He had never seen anything quite so beautiful as Nepeesse's girl.

Audibly he cursed. Pierrot as he looked at a sheet of paper under his hand, on which for an instant he had written the names of various companies and their company ledgers. It was Pierrot who stood in his way. Pierrot's father, according to those notes, had been a full-blooded Frenchman. Therefore Pierrot was half French, and Nepeesse was quarter French—though she was so beautiful he could have sworn there was not more than a drop or two of Indian blood in her veins. If they had been all Indian Chippewyan, Cree, Ojibway, Dog Rib—anything—there would have been trouble. But Pierrot's father, and Nepeesse's mother, could have come to his cabin as Marie came six months ago. But there was the accursed French of Pierrot and Nepeesse were different. And yet—

He smiled grimly, and his hands clenched tighter. After all, was not his power sufficient? Would even Pierrot object to driving him from the country—from the trapping regions that had come down to him as heritage from father and grandfather, and from his mother? He had made Pierrot a widower and an outcast, he who had made wodders and castouts of a score of others who had lost his favor. No other Pierrot would sell or buy from Pierrot if he left.

The men and women who are lifting the world upward and onward are those who encourage more than criticize.

Bees Drive People From Church

Almost 500 Lbs. Of Honey Taken From Between Walls

Bees took possession of Old Bethel Church, near Exeter Springs, Mo., recently, and drove out the congregation just as in former years.

This exasperated the congregation so much they made a determined drive on the uninhabited guests. Four boys were engaged to assist the attack. A part of the weather-board was removed and after "hilling" the bees were driven out.

Then the bees were driven into the two walls on one side of the church was filled with honey. Later they discovered that the entire space between the walls at one end of the church was almost filled. Almost five hundred pounds were taken out and divided equally between the boys and the church. Honey was gone out that the bees must go.

On the occasion of the departure for England of a party of hundred school-teachers on board the "Empress of Scotland" to visit Canada and study educational methods here, His Majesty the King sent the following message to the International Education League: "His Majesty congratulates the League upon the happy conception of the undertaking which will give opportunity to study the educational system in Canada and to gain an insight into her history, development and general resources."

That 69,000 harvester would be required to handle this year's crop, of which the East would be expected to supply at least 50,000, was the estimate arrived at last week at a conference of various governments held in the Canadian Pacific offices at Winnipeg. The meeting was called to consider how steps to transport the army of harvester. Their colonist cars and special equipment has been overhauled and the company is now fully prepared for its annual rush of harvester.

George Morris Bosworth, Chairman of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, who died in London, England, on the morning of July 26th, from heart trouble, was born in 1856. He had been a partner in the firm of Bosworth & Sons, which he founded in 1881. He was 68 years old when he died, joined the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1882 and was head of the steamship service for nearly seven years. When informed of Mr. Bosworth's death, E. W. Beatty, K.C., chairman and president of the committee which had him elected to the Board of Governors, said: "He was the most equal in the country as a manager of railway traffic and added that "the company deeply regrets the passing of another of the old guard, whose ability and effort so largely contributed to the company's success."

More than 20 prisons in England have been entirely closed since 1914, and the 40 remaining in use are only partly filled at any time. The total prison population today in England is less than 60,000, as compared with 167,000 ten years ago. Prisoners who are no longer needed are being sold by the prison commissioners.

Hubby: Why are you angry at the doctor?

Wife: Just think. When I told him I was so awfully tired he asked to look at my tongue. Think of it—my tongue.

George Lane, owner of the famous Bar-U ranch and Alberta pioneer, died suddenly last Thursday morning at his ranch. He was a great friend of the Prince of Wales, and in the latter's behalf purchased the royal ranch which adjoins the Bar-U. He was probably the most colorful character in Alberta's ranching history, coming to the country in 1883. He was a partner in the Gordon, Ironsides and Faries Co. for years, and besides operating one of the largest ranches in the west, he farmed on a tremendous scale.

If only the coming election orators would conclude when they say "and in conclusion."

"Darling," he cried, falling on his knees and covering her little white hands with kisses, "can't you see that I love you?"

She drew herself up to her full height. "Well," she said, "I should hate to think this was just your natural way of behaving in company."

Not long ago we read of a famous author who receives as much as fifty cents a word for his stories and articles. We can't see anything very wonderful about that. Not long ago we heard a police magistrate say, "Fifty dollars or thirty days in jail." And his words netted ten dollars apiece.
